The Company's Ackroo Anywhere platform provides merchants three key interfaces for their business:

1) Real time in-store and online point-of-sale integration to allow merchants to authorize and process transactions
2) A self-serve program console to help them view critical data for reconciliation, reporting and marketing purposes while also allowing them to manage and modify their program
3) Customer interfaces to allow consumers to register, check, transfer and reload balances

Ackroo's consultative sales operations approach does not simply involve deploying technology. We also assist merchants in how to best utilize our technology through business insights and marketing services. The Company is thus able to differentiate itself in the marketplace from other technology providers.

The Company's online and in-store gift card & loyalty marketing platform manages 3 key merchant currencies in gift card, loyalty and promotions. The platform provides both the ability to process the data as well as actionable tools to drive results through these currencies.

The Company acquires their customers through three distinct channels:

1. Via merger and acquisition of competitive and complimentary companies.
2. Via selected integrated point of sale partners. Typically, organizations that sell merchant services like debit and credit processing or point of sale software refer their current and prospective clients to Ackroo.
3. Via direct sales efforts. Customer referrals, vertical market approaches etc.

It is through these channels that the company now supports over 4,200 locations and growing via the various products and services the company provides.

The Company spent a great portion of Q2 on completing the due diligence and acquisition of IQ 724. This acquisition better positions the Company for better organic growth in large/enterprise accounts thanks to new advanced business intelligence and digital marketing tools as well as leveraging IQ 724 clients as reference points.

The Company secured a $4M debt facility from BDC deploying $3M for IQ724 with another $1M that will be used for their next acquisition sometime over the next 12 months once IQ724 begins to normalize.

Cost management was once again a priority in Q2 which led to the Company's best earnings quarter ever and the Company's first ever cash flow positive quarter. Improving the balance sheet is of the upmost importance and so the Company expects this trend to continue.

Q2 was a very successful quarter for the Company on a number of fronts and has the Company poised for a big close to 2019.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Fair value of financial instruments

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, due from related party, bank indebtedness, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, and long-term debt. The Company believes that the recorded values of all these financial instruments, with the exception of long-term debt, approximate their current fair values because of their short-term nature. The fair value of long-term debt approximates its carrying value due to its market rate of interest.

Risk Management

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks including market risk (i.e. currency risk, interest rate risk), credit and liquidity risks.

(a) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or expected future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk. The Company is mainly exposed to interest rate risk and currency risk.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's long-term debt bears interest at a fixed rate. Bank indebtedness is based on market rates plus a fixed percentage and represents some risk. As a whole, the Company's exposure to interest rate risk is minimal.

Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company transacts primarily in Canadian dollars and is not exposed to significant currency risk.
(b) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. The Company's credit risks relate to its cash and cash equivalents and accounts receivable. The Company's cash and cash equivalents are deposited with a Canadian chartered bank and as a result management believes the risk of loss on this item to be remote. Management believes that the credit risk on its accounts receivable is limited as the amounts are expected to be collected in the Company's next operating cycle.

The aging of accounts receivable balances at June 30, 2019 are as follows:

	Amounts Due	Collected within 30 days of period end	Remaining Aged Balance
1 - 30 days due	153,519	99,992	53,527
31 - 60 days due	3,297	631	2,666
61 - 90 days due	202	180	22
Greater than 90 days past due	541	199	342
	157,559	101,002	56,557

The aging of accounts receivable balances at December 31, 2018 are as follows:

	Amounts Due	Collected within 30 days of year end	Remaining Aged Balance
1 - 30 days due	216,135	163,713	52,422
31 - 60 days due	16,002	5,922	10,080
61 - 90 days due	1,503	932	571
Greater than 90 days past due	4,839	1,242	3,597
	238,479	171,809	66,670

The Company has limited credit risk since the Company does not typically extend credit to its customers and customers are required to provide a pre-authorized method of payment upon entering into a service contract. The Company carries out, on a continuing basis, credit checks on its clients, a review of outstanding amounts and maintains provisions for estimated uncollectible accounts. Provisions for doubtful accounts, not due to credit loss, are made on an account by account basis. At June 30, 2019, the allowance for doubtful accounts amounted to $Nil (2018 - $Nil). As at June 30, 2019 there were two customers that each represented greater than 10% of the current total accounts receivable (20.8% and 14.1% respectively) whose entire balance was subsequently paid after quarter end.

(c) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they fall due. The Company's management believes its existing working capital coupled with the cash that will be generated from its operations coupled with additional financing activities will enable the Company to meet its financial obligations.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments

In July 2014, the IASB reissued IFRS 9 which replaced IAS 39. The replacement standard has the following significant components: establishes two primary measurement categories for financial assets – amortized cost and fair value; establishes criteria for classification of financial assets within the measurement category based on business model and cash flow characteristics; and eliminates existing held to maturity, available for sale and loans and receivable categories. This standard became effective January 1, 2018.

The adoption of IFRS 9 did not have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements of the Company.

IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers

In May 2014, the IASB issued IFRS 15, which provides a single, principles based five-step model for revenue recognition to be applied to all customer contracts and requires enhanced disclosures. This standard became effective January 1, 2018.

The adoption of IFRS 15 did not impact the Company's current revenue recognition policies or necessitate any material changes to its internal controls or data systems.

IFRS 16 Leases

In January 2016, the IASB issued IFRS 16 which replaces IAS 17 for the accounting of leases. IFRS 16 eliminates the classification as an operating lease and requires lessees to recognize a right-of-use asset and a lease liability in the statement of financial position for all leases with exemptions permitted for short-term leases and leases of low value assets. In addition, IFRS 16: changes the definition of a lease; sets requirements on how to account for the asset and liability, including complexities such as non-lease elements, variable lease payments and options periods; changes the accounting for sale and leaseback arrangements; largely retains IAS 17's approach to lessor accounting and introduces new disclosure requirements. This standard was implemented January 1, 2019.

The adoption of IFRS 16 led to the recording of a Right of use leased asset – office space and a related lease liability of $166,693.
